Abstract

Compact2025, a bold new initiative facilitated by IFPRI, aims to accelerate progress and scale up investments in ending hunger and malnutrition by 2025. Since its launch, the initiative has hosted country roundtables, released the book Nourishing Millions: Stories of Change in Nutrition, and much more. This event will provide an overview of Compact2025, review the key factors for success in nutrition as identified by Nourishing Millions, and present recommendations from three Compact focus countries: Ethiopia, Malawi, and Rwanda. Panelists will share their reflections on the key priorities for accelerating progress in nutrition in Africa, and the policies and actions needed to catalyze positive change.
